

The LISC website

or

How to keep in touch with the LISA community

Markus Pössel (AEI)
for the LISC webteam

LISA Astro-GR@AEI, 21 September 2006

LISC

= LISA International Science Community

- Community of scientist/engineers who are involved/interested in LISA science
- Communication tool LISC website:

<http://www.LISAScience.org>

- Currently 174 members (can use discussion forums, receive newsletter) from 104 institutions
- Useful for: Keeping in touch with LISC members, keeping up-to-date with LISA developments, gauge community support
- Resource material: Introductory articles, images, outreach material, links

The story so far...

- 12/05 LISA International Science Team (co-chairs Prince, Schutz) decide to form LISC
- 02/06 Development begins at JPL/AEI
- 04/06 Placeholder website online
- 05/06 First LISA newsletter, preliminary registration for further newsletters (199 people sign up)
- 06/06 Basic website (news, discussion boards, resources) goes online, member registration

Onwards and webwards...

(talk continued with guided tour of <http://www.lisa-science.org>)

LISC website credits

Concept and initial content:

Joint AEI-JPL undertaking (B. Schutz, T. Prince, M. Vallisneri, S. Babak, R. Jackson, E. Müller, MP)

Site setup, web programming:

AEI (Jan Scharein, AEI Computer Support Group, MP)

LISC portal webteam:

S. Babak (AEI), G. Branduardi-Raymont (UCL), J. Centrella (GSFC), N. Cornish (Montana), T. Creighton (UTB), S. Drasco (JPL), M. Freitag (Cambridge), C. Hogan (Washington State), O. Jennrich (ESA), U. Johann (EADS Astrium), S. Larson (PSU), S. Merkowitz (GSFC), C. Miller (UMD), G. Nelemans (Nijmegen), M. Pössel (AEI), J. Scharein (AEI), B. Schumaker (JPL), M. Vallisneri (JPL), A. Vecchio (Birmingham), K. Willacy (JPL)